

A stack of mats from MT Rig Mats enjoying one last day of mountain air before being shipped to the Eagle Ford in Texas

Ron Ness, president, North Dakota Petroleum Council, holds up a saucer-size commemorative coin at the Million Barrels, Million Thanks celebration in Tioga, N.D.

Target Logistics CEO Brian Lash (left) talks with multimedia journalist Jason Spiess (right)

First batch of liquefied natural gas produced from North Dakota LNG plant in Tioga, N.D.

A shipping barge at the Port of Vancouver

A wide-angle shot of the Port of Vancouver

Belle Fourche, S.D., Mayor Gary Hendrickson and then-interim economic development director Jim Doolittle pose in front of their community's investment into a multi-million-dollar industrial rail park. Belle Fourche currently sees more traffic on Highway 85 than there is on I-90