

Building the Bakken

Will natural gas become a universally priced commodity?

Natural resource may trade with a universal global price like oil, gold and silver

By Tom Ivers

Oil and gas have been the main energy sources for the world since the industrial revolution. But as the world's population grows, the demand for energy will increase. Will natural gas become a universally priced commodity?

By Tom Ivers
 The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

By Tom Ivers

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

The world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for energy is increasing. Natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity. This is because natural gas is becoming a more important energy source, and it may become a universally priced commodity.

• Office Furniture
 • Office Supplies
 • Office Chairs
 • Computer Cables
 • Computer Peripherals
 • Printing & Imaging

CSBM

10000 W. 10th Ave. • Suite 100 • Denver, CO 80202
 303.440.1111 • Fax: 303.440.1112

Team up with
GED Software and Appleton

GED Software is the national supplier of software solutions along with your industrial software needs.

Phone: 781.444.1111
 330 Hill St. Ste 200, D. & C. Division, MA 01901

GED

Appleton

HARVEST SHOWCASE

Sept 21
 11am - 5pm

Sept 22
 11am - 5pm

Northwest Center

Pride of Dakota

Boys' Group & Scouts of ND

Admission is
 $10.00 for adults, $5.00 for children
 $2.00 for seniors 65 and over
 $1.00 for children 12 and under

Photo credit: